THE NEWSPAPERS AND THE

At the congress of the churches recently held at Hartford one of the subjects of discussion was the "Attitude of the Secular Press in America toward Beligion." Stated thus and as discussed by the congress, the proposition was mis-leading. What the congress was disposed to censure in the press, as its attitude toward re-ligion, is in fact its attitude toward summy leadg dogmas of ecclesissimism, which dogmas ose who speak for the churches usually de-minate religion itself. We may refer to a resolution concerning Sunday newspapers recently adopted by certain ing of the same, is what they term "Sabbath descration," they do not want announcements of religious services published in Sunday papers. If such notices can't be published by the papers on Saturdays they would prefer that the publication be omitted entirely. Part of the idea evidentity is that the nublication of the Sunday na-Her, if it carries these amouncements, seems to have the sanction of the churches, or at least of the clergy, and that it is a duty of the churches and of the clergy to discountequace this form of "Sabbath desecration," and to ban all its in-Struments and agencies.

Now immoral journalism cares nothing for the displeasure of the churches and clergy. Such displeasure, if it be marked and aggre lent capital for their business of readers they seek are attracted by the very features of journalism which offend decency and morality, and the publishers of such sheets re-gard denunciations of their dirty business from the pulpit as valuable advertisements. People lism may regard with undifference the op-Sunday issues of the over zea quite as much a necessity to a city large ugh to support it as the pulpit itself. The great mass of intelligent people want and will have Saturday's news on Sunday The SUNDAY churches of the city on that day, morning and all the warnings of ill-judging pastors to let it o propagate and continue in force the e Puritan idea of "the sanctity of the a." "Sabbath," for Sunday, is itself a Observance of the Sabbath (Satur changed to Sunday by the early Christians commemoration of the resurrection. That ed in historical Purita lay, or the Lord's day, the asceticism of ties of that exceticism by the gloom and dogma essary on Sundays as on all other days and Sunday is by consent of the Christian world, the proper day for rest and devotion, but the idea that every little attention on Sunday to matters of human interest is "desecration of the holy Sabbath," and therefore a sin, is not entertained by one in a hundred even of the member: of the churches to whom the pastors preschit.

Here a word may be said on the futility of the

The day for all that is past

Some of the specifiers in the congress at Hart ford indulged much dippart sarcasm at the expense of the editorial writer, who discourses with equal facility on matters of religion, politics, art, society and everything else. A great lead of this work, it is true, has no net tal value But isn't it as valuable, at least, as much of the prosy, hundram, dogmatic and otherwise staped work of a multitude of our pulpiteers. Among the addresses was one by Rev. Dr. Glaiden. of the daily newspapers be said

They recognize religion as the it spend for they receive that the continuous series of religion say perceive that the continuous series of religious movements and events is in important with of the news of the day pute is vorthy to chronicled us the dog higher and the decorees and they observe that the property of the harries or into higher and their the vork in the harries or into higher and the day of the property of the pr and to the tiple manage constant to produce

There is something more tran this, I owever, in the practical and expert journalist. He understands the difference between sporting news of the dog-fight class and other news, as w Of the dog-light class and other news, as well as Dr. (sladden understands it, or perhaps better. He probably rates the exalted worth of religious truth as highly as any evangelical divine who participated in the congress of the churches, though he is not apt to lay sy much stress on formplated creeds or disputed doginas His business, however, as the k hicago Joann it has well put it, is not except in a casual way, to teach his readers the ethical value of denom inational news over sporting rews. He would not be welcome if he should intrude into this field of instruction. The pulpit has monopoheed the duty of constantly preaching on the great excellence of religious truth as compared with secular truth, and the clergy are jenious of any attempt to supersede them in their labors Yet that the press accomplishes as much good in a worldly and practical way as 15 ac un plished by the paipit may be accepted as a fact There is as much practical patrio' sm. benerollence, humanity and grace, and not so 11 cant, among newspaper men as among preachers Dr (Hadden's intime, in 34 to the exercise of influence by the conting-rooms over the elimidal rooms of newspapers, he follows up 15 saying "News Dapers generally are owne 1; me new ope prin dipal jurpose s to make n (new) it of tem cigal purpose a to make a (new) it or near power in and herein is here weakness as instruments of rightecusness. the public, first, because it cannot be independent, and second, because it cannot give the news. The more morey, therefore, a newspa-per can make, the better it can serve the public. Of course we are speaking now of clean, legitimate and honorable journalism, which is in fact the only journalism that really succeeds. It is not true, then, that the counting-room delases the character of the newspaper lessens its infinence and renders its power less whose principal object is to "make money out of them," and not especially to make them "metru ments of righteousness." Cases have been known in which even preachers have left one field of labor for another where the salary was bigher, but where the chances of being "fastruments of righteousness? were not so nor and the necessity for righteous instrumen was less argent. A higher salary then will lead even a clergyman from one place of work and duty to another, and nebedy has a right to con

There is every reason why the pulpit and the press should cultivate respect and good feeling for each other. The true journalist is the natu-ral friend of the clergranan, because he knows better than most others what intellectual labor is, and feels that it ought to be properly apprecrated and paid, yet he sees that in many, per haps most, congregations this is not comprehended as it should be. Again, the newspaper is the agent that enlarges, and immensily enlarges, the field of the clargyman's efforts. It often gives him ten thousand interested readers where he had but one hundred dull hearers, and even if it does that in the way of business, or in other words to make money by printing mate that many persons want to read, the pulpit should not taunt it with mercenny notives I it the newspaper does such things to make money, it is only because it makes money that it can

The death of Victor Hugo, which occurred yesterday at Paris, removes from the stage of action the chief figure in the literary world French literature, indeed, presents no greater name than that of Hugo. He was born on the 20th of February, 1802, at Besaucau, where his father, an officer under Napoleon, was commandant. In his early youth he led an erratic, roving hie, following the military movements of roving life, following the military movements of his father, but through it all was admirably taught, his classical studies beginning at the age of seven. It was first proposed that be should enter the polytechnic school, but his brilliant poetic talent and his inclinations led to the field of letters, and at the age of twenty he adopted literature as a vocation. A volume of odes and poems published in 1822 attracted wide attention, and two novels published in 1825 gave bim even greater regulation. Before he was him even greater reputation. Before he was he had gamed a European reputation. and poems, novels, dramas, etc., I quick succession from his prohibe pen.

In 1841 Rugo was elected to the French academ; and m 1845 was created a peer of Franca as a recognition of his literary greatness. In 1848 he was chosen to the constituent assembly, where his opposition to the prince president led to his proscription. He retired to Jersey in 1852, and later took up residence in the fale of Guernsey Early in 1871 he returned to Paris and was elect onal assembly at Bordsaux, but soon resigned in diagust.

During all these years he wrote industriously, his work being almost uniformly excellent and and his regulation constantly expanding. He was the champion of the romantic school as against the classical. The supreme law of the classical school was, the idea shall be beautiful and the expression shall be polished literature is a mirror of good society. Against this idea Victor Hugo proclaimed that the idea shall be true and the expression natural literature is a mirror of nature And he made his prince ples and actual influence in Frenci literature by dint of his hullbant creative power He was a poet of imagination rather than syn paths, his work lacking always the warmth of Victor Hugo had many eccentricities of char which have subjected him to criticism, particularly where English ideas of morality prevail or many years he has been the hero of France No man has ever gained so much of what may be called personal applause in the field of letters Wherever he has gone during the past ten year he has been surrounded and cheered as trenera trant has been in this country. He died in full possession of his mental faculties and in the fullness of reputation and esteem. Tennyson has well said of Hugo.

4 PICALD ICAS A trial of great local interest has just been concluded in Vermont, which is worthy of general notice as being the first case tried under th new lermont law which provides for a picked jury in cases of civil or criminal complexity. It was a sult in assumpsit brought by the Butanid Railroad company against its former president, ex (coverror John B Page, to recover on the original bill the sum of $200,000 which it was claimed he had misoppropriated and embezzled during his nineteen years' management and financial administration of the company | The trial in the Rulland county court lasted time weeks More testiming was taken than at my previous jury trial in New England A type-writer copy of the testimopy covered 1895 pages of legal cap and included over 725,000 words. Governor Page's own testimony comprised over 267,000 The jury was composed of prominent farmers and business men, selected under the new law with a view to their ability to comprehtelligently this mass of evidence which dealt with the complicated matters of railroad ac-Lovernor Page, and this was followed spentaneous movement of the people of Rutland with a great demonstration of popular approval. original and true idea of a jury of one's peers, or i jury of the country, more truly than the average haplazard panel that would have been utterly unable to understand the complexed evilence in the case. It is absurd to speak of the lazy, I stless loafers who hang around courie in many country places, as well as in many of the cities, for the purpose of being called to the jury box, as the peers of a man who had been the able spancial and executive officer of a state and the successful manager of a railroad for many years Neither is such a jury a fair representation of the country, such as could be called the jury of the country in which such a man had occupied a leading position. Under the old system men who could barely draw the simplest note of hand might have been chosen to slift this mass of evidence. Any person of sound intelligence can see how unfair to both sides the trial of this vermont case would have heen before an ignorant jury. The tital of the star route cases in Washington was a single monchery because of the incapacity of the jurors. The recent acquittal of Richard Short in a New Lork court through the cowardice and ignorance of the jury was not an exceptional instance of the scandalous failure of justice for the same cause. Here were twelve jurymen who, the judge says, were guilty of "cowardice and ignorance," and whom the district attorney styles "cowards, who brought in a verdet con-trary to all justice, reason and evidence" it is but a little more than a year since the Cincinnatl riots, in which scores of men were shot down and the heart of the city was devastated with fire, because the people had become exas perated by failures in criminal administration through a system of selecting purors which en-abled criminals or their attorneys to exclude from the Lox men who would render hones of the country will show that ignorant or depraved jurors, even when free from bias, in par icular cases are less likely to reach sound con lusions on evidence which they can comprehend than intelligent and moral men. DID NOT KNOW HE WAS SOLICITING -Thomas

DID NOT KNOW HE WAS SOLICITING —Thomas (Farger, an elderly man with a very pronounced bur-ron his tongue, which, however, does not interfere with the use of it, has been in attendance at incoming trains and beats for some time, apparently acting as a runner for the International botel without license. He was arrested yesterday and arraigned in the police court changed with trespassing on the Ash street dock and on charges of acting as runner for two ho els without license. He conducted his own defense, and stated that he was down here from The Bulles on an excursion, and had been distributing circulars for the new Columbian holes there out of friendship for the preprietor. He was astonished at having three charges preferred against him in this land of thestimony was all in. (ity Attorney Tanner submitted the cases without argument, and Farger did the eame, at which the judge expressed his great gratification, and took the subject under advisement.

DECORATION DAY EXCURSION—The Tele-

DECORATION DAY EXCURSION — The Telephone has been chartered by the Young Feo pie's lyceum and Ladies' seciety of Grace M. F. church for an excursion on Decoration day to the Cascades. Landings are to be made going and returning at Yancouver, La Cannas, Latou relie and Multnomah falls. A large number will doubtless desire, as in other years, to attend memorial services at Vancouver, and they will have the opportunity of making the trip this year on the Telephone. The cascades and falls of the Columbia, owing to the recent rains, will be seen at their best, and it will be a rare treat to those intending going out of Portland on Decoration day to make the trip up the Columbia with the excursion. No care need be taken to provide lunches, as the ladles will serve refreshments. Portland will be reached in the evening in ample time to attend memorial services at the payihon.

TRADE RIVALES — Yesterday morning Mitchell and Wolfstein, rival poultry buyers, fought a pitched battle of one round at the corner of pitched battle of one round at the corner of Third and Morrison streets. A few words bad passed when Mitchell accused Wolfstein of calling bim a thief, and in turn called Wolfstein a rery bad name and dared hun to alight from his seal on a frisky nag. The challenger party alighted and the challenger strutted about, cane in hand, all the same a Portland actor as Colonel trey in Bosedale? Mitchell hung its cane upon the crosswalk and Wolfstein picket it in phenog caught by the head when resuming an apright position. The pugitists broke away, closed and again broke from the mutual embrace. This ended the little scrapping match, as Wolfstein rode away on his charger, leaving Mitchell boss of the crosswalk.

has been a great deal of prospecting done in this section of late, and many discoveries of this section of late, and many discreties of mineral deposits have been made. There are many valuable mines in this state long since discovered, which have been awaiting the advent of capital it levelop them. Among these is the celest ited Yank ledge in Rogue river valley, which is imported to be very rich, but the ofe has hisherto proved refractory. A process has been discovered by which it is thought that it can be sincessfully worked, and a gendleman is now in this city backed by half a million off (alternia capital, which be intends to use in opening up and working this ledge. If this scheme proves a success two ledges is the velopment of many other mines.

he first point that sprikes one as suitable for equien with a view to farming is the chebalis.

A number of uniley, at the town of (behales Anumber of new buildings were going up, and all go her there was an indication that a "boom" was on the place, and that it was striving to rival the evident y older town of Cu trilla, a few nitles furth () down it evaller, but which has a fresh and thrifty for k that indicates a determination rot to give up with cut a struggle. Not having slopped at these places, I cannot say anything nore than could be judged from their appearnce from t e traiu

At (1) impia everything looked quiet, and resistands stated the fact that in common with all bound rounds, business was very slock. I found men cursing the country and only wishing to lown in wages when men can be had to work of the 's and nills, howers, are starting up again, and hopes are freely expressed that the worst is over, and that with cheaper labor the lumb ring business may again be made profitable to the farming, dulying, trading and other permanent interests of the country

The new town of Montesano, or I pper Montesano, as at it called, is benutifully lorated about half a mule north of the Chelalis, at what is practically the head of steam unvigation. In its eagernese to attain city proportions at has evidently got ahead of the country upon which it depends for support, and town tots are freely effered, but the people soon to be enterprising and determined to succeed, and with the revival of business; or the fullow of new population, it stands a fair show to secure its share, and hopes are also indulged that it will secure the courtcouse and perhaps the entire business from the ower town, which was considerably damaged and set back by being overflowed last whiter, 's,' rath rist the second time in its history. A new whigh at the Satespa, a few miles above town, to cost several thousand dollars, and an elevated roadway to the landing are evidences of outerprise and will be the means of distributing cossiderable money in the town A few miles below. Montesano is the town site

The next point finorable for a town location is at (comopolis, and as far as outural nivan ages are concerned it is supporter to may other both on the river, if not on the whole harbor. Two on three years ago it started up with brillimit prospects, and a large saw will and hotel were erroted, with other buildings to correspond But, as has too often been the case, the natural advantages have evidently not been salightly appreciated by the propertors of new enterprises as by the town propertors, and ablered two and perhaps three mils with their attendant business have been diverted to the new town of Abrideen, four miles further down, at the mouth of the Wichkoh liver. Here A. J. West, lately from Michigan, has a mill of ordinary capacity, which at present is only supplying the local deof the Wichton river. Here A. J. West, lately from Michigan, has a mill of ordinary capacity, which at present is only supplying the local deniand. Another first class mill is in course of construction by Captain Weatherwax, also from Michigan, and a tird one is also contemplated seoul. A number of residences and business bouses have been and are being built, and altogether there is nuch of the appearance of thrift. The location is not nearly so favorable as at Cosmopolis, being on tide finds, and altogidings, walks, etc., have to be set up two or three feet from the ground, giving the town a somewhat "stilled" appearance (though I have seen nichting to indicate that the inhabituate feet "stock up" on this necount). The tide, however, hat seldom overhows, and in source of time tile river front will be dised, the grounds graded up, and dabor will accomples weat nature fittles to of the proprietors seem determined to make something of the pince, and apparently have the means to do it. But after all the principal inclor in the future of these town is the milrod, and where it will "bill" or "mire" is just what "he feller" can find out now. Else has it hopes, but all know that milrod termin are very uncartain things. At the mouth of the Hoquam, four or five miles further down, is the town of the same name, which may be considered principally as an adjunct of the e ground and take advantage of any Incidents regable to the further extension of the trade

There is a salmon-backing establishment here and notifier just below (osmopolis, hit which er r not they; will be operated this season is not lecified upon A year ago, the chimook animon made their first appearance in these waters and should they again appear in any considerable numbers, would perhaps make it worth while to run, even though the outhook for market should not interially improve So nuch for the town. not the towns. I expect to spend a few cays in looking at and inquiring, into the country round about, and I shall then probably be sibe to give some information as to what lands are available for locationer perchase and which inducements it may offer to settlers.
